

SEMESTER	DEPARTMENT	COURSE TITLE
Fifth	Telecommunications Engineering	English V
COURSE CODE	HOURS: 3	COURSE SPECIFICATIONS
EG504	UNITS: 3	Theoretical Content
1. Sentences structure: we will study three of them in this writing course, they are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ Simple.</li> <li>➤ Compound.</li> <li>➤ Complex.</li> </ul>
2. Independent clause.
3. Dependent clause.
4. Coordination.
5. Connecting simple sentences.
6. Positive and Negative correlatives as coordinating conjunctions (both.....and, not only.....but also).
7. Sentences (connectors which show contrast).
8. Sentences (connectors which cause – effect).
9. Sentences (connectors which cause condition).
10. Run – On Sentences.
11. Subordination.
12. What is a paragraph.
13. Letter writing.

References:

1. Liz & John Soars, New Headway English Courses, Oxford University Press.
2. Jone Hobbs, English Practice Grammar, Garnet Publishing lypd .UK.
3. Dr. Nuwara M. Imssalem, A context – based English Grammar, Benghazi University.
4. Dr. Nuwara M. Imssalem, A course in English, Benghazi University.
5. GC Thornley, Elementary Scintific English practice, GC Thornley long man House.